Bonifay Police Department looks to relocate administrative office

COLLIN BREAUX
Cbreaux@kentsmith.biz

The Holmes County Sheriff's Office has officially relocated their headquarters.

The HCSO administrative office is now at 1173 East Highway 90 in the old agricultural center, the agency announced on Facebook. They have left behind their old center at 211 North Oklahoma Street.

The North Oklahoma Street location may still be occupied by another law enforcement entity, however.

The Bonifay Police Department has expressed interest in moving into the office. A lease agreement will be sent to the Bonifay City Council for consideration and potentially approved by the Holmes County Board of County Commissioners at a future meeting, should the city sign off on the agreement.

Bonifay city and police officials noted their desire to use the former HCSO office during a Holmes County Commission meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 17. The BPD, along with the city's fire department, is currently at 809 South Waukesha Street. "We'd just appreciate

New Chipley fire chief steps up to fill father's shoes

COLLIN BREAUX

When one asks Hunter Aycock how he feels about being the new fire chief in Chipley, one word comes to mind: "excited."

"I've been aiming for this for a long time," he said.

The role is a familiar one for the Aycock family since Hunter is taking over for his dad and former fire chief, Floyd Aycock.

"I'm excited for him because I know it's a goal he set years ago," Floyd said.

Floyd has retired after a long time serving for the Chipley Fire Department.

"I started volunteering here in December '91," Floyd said. "It feels good (to retire) but there's also that sense of leaving a lifestyle."

The Aycock boys both said Floyd will be back after a required one-year retirement period.

"We won't let him off that easy," Hunter quipped.

As for Hunter, he started his firefighting career around 10 years ago.

"I like helping people," Hunter said. "I like the problem solving, adrenaline rush. It definitely takes a special kind of person."

Due to his new role, Hunter will be working five days a week—a transition from the shift work he's used to.

"Going from a 24/48 schedule to five days a week will take some adjustment," Hunter said.

"I'll be with my family and kids more. I think it'll be a good thing. I'll miss the shift, the other lifestyle."

Shift work was "awesome" since the shift crew was like another family, Hunter said.

"Quite a lot of them are friends too," he said. "It's not like I'm leaving them."

The younger Aycock is taking his new chief role on a day-to-day basis.

"I knew what I wanted to do when I was a kid," he said.

News, Advertiser to return to separate publications

STAFF REPORT

Washington County News and Holmes County Advertiser will be restored to separate publications as of November 1, parent company Kent Smith Group announced this week. While the News and Advertiser have their own websites, the two community newspapers were combined into one print product in late 2022 by the former parent company.

"When my partner, Adam Smith, and I acquired the newspapers, we promised the readers we would work to ensure Holmes and Washington counties would once again have their own community paper," said Publisher Carol Kent. "While these communities are similar, they

Bonifay mayor, residents continue to argue over financial transparency

COLLIN BREAUX
Cbreaux@kentsmith.biz

Tensions have continued to publicly flare between Bonifay Mayor Larry Cook and town residents.

Larry Cook and resident Richard Willsey argued during a City Council meeting on Monday, Oct. 23, over a public records request filed regarding a pancake fundraiser breakfast for the Bonifay Fire-Rescue, a volunteer organization.

"Why would you want to know what the fire department pancake fundraiser brought in?" Larry Cook said. "What are you getting at? I have 20 guys that wake up at four in the morning and they cook pancakes and they work their butts off and you want to know how much money they made. What is wrong with you?"

"The people would like to know where the money has been applied to for the budget," Willsey said. "I am in no way opposed to the fire department. ... Every dollar raised in contributions is required to be documented as received and where it is allocated to be spent."

"Why is it that the fundraiser for the Bonifay fire department isn't accounted for by the city? Is there a secret bank account for the fire department to use for whatever they choose?" Willsey continued. "Where is the accountability for this and who is overseeing this? Sounds like another case of the good old boys just taking care of the good old boys."

Fire Chief Travis Cook said he has been the treasurer for the fire department's account since 2005, where all fundraiser money goes to and expenses come out of.

"It is also audited. It is a city account," Travis Cook said. "We've never had any accounting practice issues or violations."

Travis Cook said he was notified of the public records request and responded the same day he received it.

"Like I said in previous meetings, if you need any fire department information, there's no need to go to a public records request. I can get you that information," Travis Cook said. "This was our largest fundraiser for the year. This was year 19, so we expect year 20 to be bigger. We were very happy with the turnout of everybody that showed up. The total received on that Saturday was $8576.02."

Willsey further said he filed public records requests regarding the city's pub-

Washington Co. Commissioners approve land use changes

COLLIN BREAUX
Cbreaux@kentsmith.biz

The Washington County Board of County Commissioners signed off on a trio of land use changes—one allowing several residential units on property in Caryville—on Thursday, Oct. 19.

One of the land use changes was requested for 6594 Highway 77 in Chipley by property owners Ryan and Tabitha Williams, who sought approval for agriculture and silviculture allowances. The nearly five-acre property was zoned for general commercial uses.

“This is located at the southern end of the county, just north of Crystal Lake Drive,” Senior Planner Dawn McDonald said. “They have no desire to develop commercial and would like the land use to allow for residential uses, which agriculture/silviculture does and it is in keeping with the remainder of the subdivision, which this lot is a part of.”

are already zoned for agriculture/silviculture uses.

“We held a neighborhood information meeting and no residents attended,” McDonald said. “We haven’t heard any input from the community.”

Another near five-acre property on Highway 77 that received the same land use change allowances belongs to Larry Bruner.

“It would be the southern end of the parcel,” McDonald said. “We held a neighborhood information meeting. No residents attended.”

The third and last case concerns nearly a 10-acre property at 1447 St. Marys Road in Caryville belonging to Camilla Chambers Benson and Henry Chambers. The request was to change the land use category from agriculture and silviculture to low residential.

“This is northwest Washington County,” McDonald said.

Two neighbors attended an information meeting held Sept. 21 and had concerns on if there would be additional residents moving to the property. Concerns over moving out to the country to enjoy a quiet life were relayed.

“According to (Camilla) Chambers Benson, at this time there would not be any more than three units on the property,” McDonald said. “However, they do have the option to include a fourth unit.”

Chipley man claims lottery prize

A Chipley man is now richer.

Kenneth Conklin, 51, recently claimed a $1 million prize from the $5,000,000 TRIPLE MATCH Scratch-Off game at Lottery Headquarters in Tallahassee, the Florida Lottery announced on Oct. 12 in a news release.

“He chose to receive his winnings as a one-time, lump-sum payment of $664,198,” the Florida Lottery’s announcement said.

Conklin reportedly purchased his ticket from the Tom Thumb location at 1034 Main Street.

“The retailer will receive a $2,000 bonus commission for selling the winning Scratch-Off ticket,” the announcement said.

Lucky Puppy Rescue in need of financial assistance, volunteers

NAN THOMPSON
Nthompson@kentsmith.biz

When animal lovers need to find a home for a dog or cat or your dog has puppies you can't care for, they might look for a local rescue.

Lucky Puppy in Bonifay has been one of many rescues taking in animals but that could all change since the rescue is in need of financial assistance.

The nonprofit rescue opened their doors in Bonifay 16 years ago, offering the public an alternative to "kill shelters" in the area, but founder and president Terri Mattson says she can no longer take in more animals.

With 200 animals currently on the farm and no financial support to keep going, their doors might close forever.

Food that was normally donated now falls on the shoulders of the shelter. That does not include veterinarian bills, medications, and basic items like power, gas, and insurance.

"With the economy the way it is, it's hard," Mattson said. "Real hard. We try to send dogs to our New York adoption center but even that takes time and

Lucky Puppy Rescue in Bonifay is at risk of shutting down for good due to a need for financial and volunteer help. [NAN THOMPSON | The News and Advertiser] money that we just don't have available."

Even volunteer work—essential to rescue efforts—has dwindled, she added.

Since Lucky Puppy has taken in adult dogs that have a litter of puppies within weeks, one animal becomes six to eight additional mouths to feed and take care of.

"If people would spay and neuter their animals, it's not the total answer but it would help," Mattson said.

If interested in helping the rescue, contact Lucky Puppy through their website theluckypuppy.org or Facebook page at facebook.com/theluckypuppy.

Esto Town Clerk Ben Tew will also serve as the election supervisor and filing clerk. An outreach and administrative campaign publicizing and overseeing the election will be done which will include notifying eligible voters beforehand and certifying results after votes are in.

"The Esto Town Council encourages all eligible residents to participate actively in this election, exercising their right to vote and contribute to the democratic process," an ordinance establishing the election read.

OPINION

Things I'm glad I did

JASE GRAVES
Guest Columnist

If you read my last two columns, you know that I'm now milking this one-trick pony for all it's worth—including some mixed metaphors. In my previous columns, I discussed things I haven't done, and things I've done and wish I hadn't—respectively (actually, there was quite a bit of disrespect involved, especially regarding Hooters.)

This time, I'll share a few things I'm actually glad I did – for now.

1. First, this past year, I hired someone to mow my yard. Yes, I could save some cash if I did it myself, and yes, my dad (who is in his eighties) still mows his own yard – and probably doubts my parentage. But considering that I often pull muscles and pinch nerves if I breathe too heavily, I'll probably save money on medical insurance copays. Besides, I now have more time to annoy my wife, three semi-grown daughters and pets.

2. Speaking of my daughters, I'm currently paying for a series of driving lessons for my youngest and quietest daughter. I still ride along while she practices, which almost always ends with apologies (from me) and a full wipe down of the front passenger window to remove claw marks and tear stains. But based on my eldest and middle daughters' experiences with parent-taught driving lessons (and my inability to find a substitute teacher), I thought sending my youngest to a driving academy might be better for her self-esteem, my cardiovascular health and our liability insurance premiums.

3. If you're still reading, you may want to stop now because next on the list is my switch several years ago to boxer briefs. I was raised in tighty-whities, which, on me, basically look like enormous diapers (I know I'll be wearing those soon enough). Not only do I find boxer briefs more bracing and comfortable, they vaguely resemble shorts, which is useful when I forget to put on pants before going out to check the mail.

4. Moving on from men's underwear to marital health (I'm convinced the two are closely related), for the past year, or so, I've been asking my wife out for a weekly date – and occasionally, she says, "Yes." When our three daughters were younger, my wife and I focused all of our time and energy on them,

Religious wars never seem to end—we need to sit this one out

RON HART
Guest Columnist

As I watched rockets flying at each other, "devout" Muslims attacking the Jewish people and then vice versa, I thought to myself, "Yet another display of very religious people just being religious."

All three religions in this war (Muslims, Jews and, to some degree, Christians) read the Old Testament and if you read that "Good Book," you get a lot of violence and smiting. All three religions draw different conclusions from it but from simply reading it, you see that violence and consequences are graphic.

Muhammad inherited the preexisting Jewish and Christian understanding of God. Thus, Moses, Jesus and Muhammad are equal parts compassion, anger, and wrath.

Growing up in a small town, I had a lot of religion of all different brands on and all around me. When I asked my preacher, "If the Bible is based in the Middle East, mostly Jerusalem, over 2000 years ago, why were the guys named Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John?" I thought was a logical question but often there is little logic in religion; that is why it is called belief or faith.

After careful consideration, I joined the church with the best basketball league.

Religion, done well, provides moral structure, community, comfort, and local charity.

When reason or logic gives way to emotional and illogical tribal beliefs, wars ensue. They always have.

Just back from Italy, I am reminded of all the many past religious wars, from the Crusades of the "Soldiers of Christ," in response to the Muslim Conquests which lasted from the 11th until the 13th century, to the Byzantine Empire, to the Romans who killed Jesus for preaching his upstart religion.

The Byzantine Empire was taken out during the Ottoman Empire, an empire I can only

Community comes together for local athlete's funeral

HAZEL WELLS TISON
Guest Columnist

On Saturday, Oct. 14, the town of Bonifay and the surrounding community came together in such an overwhelming way that I felt there should be a write-up.

Seeing no representative from the newspaper, I enlisted myself to write it, though I don't feel capable.

With due respect to the paper, they have published a report on the death of Raymond Hudson, 42, who died at his home in Bonifay. He is a 1999 graduate of Holmes County High School where made such an impact on the school's football team that he was tapped by The University of Alabama, to play for them under a football scholarship.

He was a valuable member of that prestigious SEC team with his amazing speed until his fourth year of play when a knee injury ended his football career. Since then, he has lived in Bonifay with declining health due largely to the toll taken by the rigors of football for eight of his early years.

He has maintained close ties with church family and friends, especially those gained through his athletic career.

Not many towns the size of Bonifay can boast of a native son playing for a major or professional football team, so citizens here are duly proud and have welcomed this always friendly well-behaved soft spoken young man as a celebrity.

At his passing, many wished to help the family and express their own grief. It was obvious that a large facility would be needed to accommodate the service. First Baptist is the largest sanctuary in town and the pastor and staff made it available for the memorial.

In our church, we prepare a meal on the day of the service for family and out-of-town folks but in the black community their custom is to invite all the congregation for the celebration meal. The New Family Life Center (Gymnasium) of FBC was also made available with our bereavement committee assisting in the massive preparation.

Knowing that a massive amount would be required, our bereavement chairman Nancy Riley put an appeal on her bank of telephone numbers and immediately calls began to come in promising to bring a ham, cook turnips and cornbread, fix fruit salad, cook collards, make a coconut cake—and the calls went on and on.

Pastor Shelly ordered a lot of fried chicken from Piggly Wiggly, along with

More local history at the Holmes County Public Library

Recent additions to the collection of books available in Holmes County Public Library. (CONTRIBUTED)

RAY REYNOLDS
Guest Columnist

Lovers of local history will find new books of interest at the Holmes County Public Library.

Recent donations from a local collection honor Joe R. Clark, the moving force behind the creation of the modern library. The building in central Bonifay is dedicated in his honor.

Now available at the library:

“Heart and History of Holmes County,” by Anna Paget Wells. The second edition is a revised and reformatted version of the book, first published in 1982, with updates and corrections by Dan W. Padgett.

“Holmes Valley,” by E. W. Carswell, was first published in 1969. This revised and updated edition from 1983 tells the story of the great influence Moss Hill United Methodist Church had on the development of this region of the Florida Panhandle.

In “Esto: This Is the Place,” published in 1993, E.W. Carswell captures the people and events that shaped the town of Esto—including its most famous resident, a legendary alligator known as Two-Toed Tom.

“I Declare!” by Malcolm B. Johnson. presume was based on putting your feet up. This is a clumsy way of saying that all this religious fighting has gone on for thousands of years. It is hard to understand, and certainly foolish for us to intervene. We are zero for our last three wars of choice but at least we know the Biden doctrine of war now: drag the war out with no objective, then leave the dangerous enemy you just lost to $83 billion worth of our lethal weapons and when that is done, send $6 billion to Iran, which backs Hezbollah and Hamas in Palestine.

Until we can trust our government and media to tell us the truth, we need to sit this one out...and maybe the next three.

Yet we are sending our aircraft carriers USS Dwight Eisenhower and USS Gerald Ford to the region. These presidents can do a lot of damage; the last time they played golf at Doral, not a condo window was spared. All religious wars have secular underpinnings; they are economic, cultural, and political. Politicians have long used religion to control the masses and advance their own ambitions. Hamas is a brutal extremist group which is also a political party. Their butchery in western Israel begot the most recent conflict. However, not all agree. Seeing the videos of Hamas killing Jews, the Harvard Crimson called it the feel-good movie of the year.

Most of us non-woke folks side with Israel, the country that was attacked, as we did with Ukraine, which was also attacked...but we don't want another U.S. entanglement. It can be lazy to call the Middle East “religious wars” when often ethnic animosities drive the hatred. Religion is also intertwined with economics, which is why your top-level televangelists have jets. Hunter Biden likely wants to get involved with this to go see if he can shake down the gentlemen’s club. He keeps hearing about a place called “Gaza Strip,” thinking the patrons ought to have a lot of cash on them.

With a strong speech written by his staff, Joe Biden did rebuff the left of his party who want to back Palestine. They must have promised him ice cream afterward.

Biden’s meetings were canceled by Middle East leaders. He thought they wanted his thoughts on people who overrun a southern border but Israel didn’t want to take his advice to give them welfare, hotel rooms and mail-in Democrat ballots.

Not since Bill Clinton got advice from Yasser Arafat (that goats don’t talk), have we exchanged meaningful advice with Palestinians.

In closing, I quote the grumpy yet likable commentator for 60 Minutes for years, Andy Rooney, who said, “I’d be more willing to accept religion, even though I don’t believe in it, if I thought it made people nicer, but I don’t think it does.”

Washington County officials discuss credit line extension

COLLIN BREAUX
Cbreaux@kentsmith.biz

Washington County Attorney Matt Fuqua said he recently spoke with First Federal Bank of Florida about extending the county's line of credit and making a portion "of that line, more than likely, a continuing bond obligation with an extended payment period."

Discussion of a potential credit line extension came up during a Washington County Board of County Commissioners meeting on Thursday, Oct. 19. The possible extension could be done to keep contract work going.

"First Federal was receptive," Fuqua said. "We had the bond council on the phone. They said it could be done but First Federal is waiting on, basically, a feasibility study or something like that. They sound like they can turn it around pretty quickly."

No terms or rates have been set yet. The Board did not render any vote or make an official decision related to the matter.

A portion of $4 to $5 million will continue to be paid over time, Fuqua said.

"It's not envisioned that the entire line will be paid off," he said.

Board Chairman Tray Hawkins said a special meeting can be called once more information is available about the loan, rates, and terms "to dive deep into it" and "bring everything back to order at that time."

"I would ask, Mr. Fuqua, as soon as we do have something for (County Administrator) Mr. Jeff Massey to sit down with each one of the board members so they can ask questions and maybe even make sure the loan is formatted the way they see it needs to be formatted, so we can have a clean and open discussion," Hawkins said.

Commissioner Wesley Griffin said he was concerned about going after a $20 million line of credit.

"Is there a process we could go through as far as, maybe, slowing work done so we ain't got to extend the county $20 million dollars?" Griffin said.

Hawkins said all future work will be stopped until the extension comes through.

Work could be throttled down before financial conditions "gets to this point," Griffin said.

Kent went on to say the move is in tandem with changing press providers.

"To be frank, we have been dissatisfied with the print quality of the pre-existing press operations," she said. "We have secured a contract with another provider so that our print readers can enjoy an improved product that features more vibrant colors and clean, high detailed, and sharp black and white print. While there is some cost associated with this move, it is an investment we are proud to make back into the communities we love and serve."

lic procurement policy. The policy states that formal bids were only required if repairs or vehicle services exceed $10,000, which would require City Council approval. Purchases over $1500 but less than $10,000 require Council approval but not a formal bid.

The city also participates in a state bid purchasing program for vehicles and tires, meaning they can utilize statewide bidders at the same price if they have items out for bid

"In November of 2022, there were six tires purchased for the fire department at $1210 a piece," Willsey said. "There's a state contractor with the same tire for $806 a piece. Sounds like a little bit of a discrepancy there."

The tires were purchased due to an "emergency," Larry Cook said.

"One (blew out) and they were 12 years old," Larry Cook said. "We had one fire truck. It needed a set of tires. It had a blowout. We put a set of tires on. I marked the tires up $50 a piece. I had them on the next day."

Council member James Sellers said Willsey wouldn't "give a damn if we follow the policy or not" if his house caught on fire.

"If your house catches on fire tonight, they're going to fight just as hard for you as they do for anybody else," Sellers said. "I am sick and tired of you. I don't think you have anything to do. You do nothing but cause problems."

The city should utilize "the proper purchasing and procurement policy" and "utilize the state bidding process whenever possible," Willsey said.

"You complained about not having enough money to fund the city and impose a 3-mill tax on the city residents to pay for things that you couldn't afford to pay for but if you utilized the procurement policy and the state bid contractors, maybe you could save a little bit of money that would have helped save the citizens of this town a little bit of money," Willsey said.

Larry Cook has come under public criticism and scrutiny following the termination of former Police Chief Jimmy Macon and resignation of former Mayor Dr. Emily McCann, with some residents calling on Cook to resign.

Larry Cook said the City Council was "getting tired of the accusations."

At left, Bonifay resident Richard Willsey raises concerns over the city's financial transparency practices during a City Council meeting on Monday, Oct. 23. Residents and councilmembers have argued over transparency and ethics concerns during meetings. [COLLIN BREAUX | The News and Advertiser]

If You Picked Original Medicare, Do You Want To Add More Coverage?

LES BROWN
Senior Life Specialist

Plans cover a variety of brand-name and generic prescription drugs. Each plan has a list of covered drugs, called a "formulary", that can vary in cost and specific drugs covered.

Most plans have a monthly premium that you pay in addition to your Part B premium. You'll also pay other costs when you get prescriptions.

Plans divide the covered drugs on their formulary into groups called "tiers" based on cost. A drug in a lower tier will cost less than a drug in a higher tier.

You may pay a Part D late enrollment penalty if you don't join a Medicare drug plan when you first get Medicare and go 63 days or more without creditable drug coverage. The penalty goes up the longer you wait to join a plan. In most cases, you pay this monthly penalty as long as you have Part D coverage, even if you switch plans.

The increase is a couple of dollars compared to existing prices. The current in-town base rate before the new price takes effect is $27.19, while outside town limits is $30.19.

"The proposed water rate adjustments have been carefully calculated to balance operational costs, maintenance expenses, and infrastructure investments with the least impact on residents," an ordinance adopting the new rates said.

The Esto Town Council unanimously approved the new rates.

y'all's consideration," Bonifay City Clerk Rickey Callahan said.

Should the two parties come to an agreement, the move for the BPD could happen this December or January of next year, Callahan said.

County Commissioner Clint Erickson said the proposal is a "win-win."

County Administrator David Corbin said there is "never enough space" for agencies.

"We have to work together and sometimes, to use the old cliché, robbing Peter to pay Paul," Corbin said. "I'd like to recommend to the board that we work with the city to keep our working relationship going."

The preliminary lease being sent to the City of Bonifay will be on a year-to-year basis.

Bonifay Police Chief Johnny Whitaker said a month-to-month lease is "not feasible" due to having to move over evidence and other items.

There were five other churches involved in this community effort: New Bethel AME, Destra Moses, Sonja Moore, JeDere and Javon Powell, Mable Spates, Ollie Flowers, Brianna Belcher, Kim Farrow and Linda Staten. They all stayed for the cleanup.

No doubt I will omit some names of those who assisted in this gargantuan effort. I am not even trying to list those who provided food.

When I brought my food, I had no intention of staying as I am no help but then I kept seeing former students and having a good time meeting others, so I stayed to write something about this community effort.

Chipley Tigers roar to victory over Destin Sharks

STAFF REPORT

In a showdown at Destin Middle School stadium on Oct. 13, the Chipley Tigers continued their winning streak.

The Tigers ultimately came out victorious, leaving the field with a 32-13 win. Ethan Berry, accounting for five touchdowns for the night. He completed 10 passes for 192 yards and four touchdowns... but his contributions didn't stop there, as Berry also made his presence felt in the rushing game with a rushing touchdown.

Berry found a reliable target in the end zone, with Gavin O'Neill reeling in five receptions for two touchdowns. Additionally, Ta'shaun Sims and Malik Henderson contributed to the air attack with two receptions for one touchdown each.

On the ground, Keybo Decree bulldozed his way through the Destin defense with 24 carries for an astonishing 169 yards, setting the tone for the Tigers' ground game. Khaiden Kennedy also showcased his running prowess with seven carries, totaling 85 yards.

The second half of the game saw the Chipley Tigers' defense tighten its grip, shutting out the Destin Sharks and securing the win. Jordan Washington and Malik Henderson were two of the heroes of the defensive unit, each securing interceptions to stall Destin's attempts to mount a comeback.

The Tigers head home, having secured a victory on the road. The Chipley Tigers dropped a close homecoming against the Bozeman Bucks on Oct. 20.

more attention to my wife's needs. So, when we go out on our dates, I let her know I value her and her opinions by allowing her to choose where we eat – as long as it's my favorite Mexican food restaurant.

Let's give 'em pumpkin to talk about

WHAT SOUTHERN FOLKS EAT

"I can smell autumn dancing in the breeze. The sweet chill of pumpkin and crisp sunburnt leaves."

~Ann Drake

Pumpkin season has arrived! I know, it's still a bit warm outside, and we're wearing t-shirts and flip-flops, not sweaters and boots.

Yet once Labor Day has passed by, and everyone heads back to school for the semester, I begin daydreaming about all things autumn: pretty scarlet and orange leaves adorning wreaths on front doors, the scents of cinnamon and nutmeg baking in breads and pies in the kitchen, and lots of friendly pumpkins on porches, welcoming family and friends home.

To me, these things herald the beginning of my favorite season, regardless of the temperature.

I love decorating with pumpkins, from the traditional-looking smooth orange ones to bumpy-gnarly ones to green or white ones. They're all beautiful to me!

I decorate with them indoors and out. I stack them in old wheelbarrows, line the porch steps with them, and perch them with other smaller gourds on my mantel inside the house.

I want them everywhere possible, beginning in mid-September and going straight through Thanksgiving. Beautiful, friendly pumpkins everywhere!

Years ago, mom or dad would buy a big pumpkin for my little sister and me to carve into a jack-o-lantern just before Halloween. We were somewhat disgusted by the sliminess of the insides of the pumpkin but we'd do the operation anyway, excited to remove it so we could begin the more artistic part of carving the face!

We always tried to make "Jack" smile and not be too scary. Then, mom would put a candle inside and we'd wait excitedly for nightfall so we could light it and stand back, admiring our handiwork. Such fun!

When Thanksgiving rolled around, mom would make a couple of pumpkin pies, rich with cinnamon and nutmeg. We loved those pies!

I make them, too, using her recipe each November. Pumpkin is delicious!

It's also nutritious, containing a good dose of fiber, potassium, and vitamin A. It's a great ingredient to add to your diet, and not just in pie.

Following are some of my favorite recipes that feature pumpkin. I hope you'll enjoy trying some of them!

First, these low-fat treats are unusual... not the typical brownies, they're very dense, quite moist, and have the flavor of fall, even without the oil and eggs! Just don't expect them to be cake-like; they're definitely unique in that regard.

I hope you'll enjoy pumpkin season with these recipes, and that you'll enjoy your fall decorating, too. Feel free to share your pictures with me; I'd love to see them! My email address is steph@whatsouthernfolkseat.com. I look forward to hearing from you.

3-ingredient Pumpkin "Brownies"

Ingredients:

15-ounce can pumpkin (not pumpkin pie filling)

1 box brownie mix

1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

Method:

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line a 9x9-inch baking pan with aluminum foil, leaving some extra on each end for easy removal from the pan when brownies have cooled. Spray the foil with cooking spray.
2. In a medium mixing bowl, combine the pumpkin and the spice, whisking to combine. Add the brownie mix, and then fold in with a spatula until well-combined and smooth.
3. Spread the batter into the foil-lined baking pan, smoothing with spatula. If using the flavored chips, sprinkle them over the top of the brownie batter, smoothing gently with the spatula to press them into the batter slightly.
4. Bake for about 30 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Allow to cool in pan, then remove by lifting out with foil and placing on cutting board. Cut with large serrated knife into squares. Enjoy these thick, fudge brownies with a cold glass of milk.

Pumpkin Blondies

Ingredients:

2 cups all-purpose flour

1 1/2 teaspoons of cinnamon

1/4 teaspoon fresh nutmeg

1 teaspoon baking soda

3/4 teaspoon salt

2 sticks unsalted butter, room temperature

3/4 cup sugar

3/4 cup brown sugar

1 large egg

2 teaspoons vanilla extract

1 cup canned pumpkin puree

1 cup white chocolate chips

Method:

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line bottom and sides of a 9-by-13-inch baking pan with foil, leaving an overhang on all sides. Spray with cooking spray.
2. In a medium bowl, whisk together flour, cinnamon, nutmeg, baking soda, and salt. With an electric mixer, cream butter and both sugars until smooth. Beat in the egg and vanilla until well blended. Add the pumpkin puree. Reduce speed to low, and mix in the flour mixture until just combined. Don't overmix. Stir in the white and cinnamon chips by hand.
3. Spread batter evenly into the prepared pan. Bake for about 35-40 minutes. The sides will pull away from the pan and brown a bit. Do the toothpick test, if it comes out clean. They are done. Cool completely in pan. Lift the blondies from the pan, using the foil from pan. Peel off the foil and cut into squares.
4. If you like, you can drizzle with melted white chocolate or cream cheese icing, too. 100% delicious!

Steph's Cranberry-Pumpkin Bread

Steph's Cranberry-Pumpkin Bread

Ingredients:

1 cup dried cranberries

1/3 cup water

1/2 cup canola oil

2 large eggs

3/4 cup canned pumpkin puree

2 cups plain flour

3/4 cup white sugar

1 teaspoon baking soda

1/2 teaspoon salt

Method:

1. Plump the berries: Place the 1/3 cup water in a saucepan with the cup of dried cranberries. Bring to a simmer, stir, and remove from heat.
2. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.
3. In a medium mixing bowl, whisk together the dry ingredients.
4. In another bowl, lightly beat eggs. Add pumpkin and oil, and whisk until combined.
5. Add wet mixture to dry, and gently stir until just combined (no remaining visible clumps of flour)
6. Fold in berries, including the juice that they've created. Combine gently with spatula until they are evenly distributed in the batter.
7. Pour batter into a loaf pan that you've sprayed with Pam or Baker's Joy, or greased and floured.
8. Bake until a toothpick inserted in center of loaf comes out clean. For a large loaf, expect it to take about an hour. If dividing into two smaller loaf pans, bake for about 35 minutes. (I do this to save time.)

You could also make this into muffins of any size, adjusting baking times accordingly.

Local high school bands rank in competition

High school band members may blend into the background at Friday night football games but they aren't overlooked by everyone.

Their hard work paid off Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Florida Bandmasters District II Marching Band Music Performance Assessment at Tommy Oliver Stadium in Panama City.

All bands are judged on three major factors: music performance, marching and maneuvering, and general effect.

Chipley High School's "Spirit of the Tiger" band played "99 Red Balloons," "You Dropped a Bomb on Me," and "Shut Up & Dance," with a superior overall rating.

Vernon High School's "Pride of Vernon" played a medley from Grease, "Greased Lightning," "Summer Nights," "Born to Hand Jive," and "Beauty School Dropout" with an superior overall rating.

Holmes County High School's "Blue Pride" band played Elton John medlies "I'm Still Standing," "Crocodile Rock," "Your Song," and "Saturday Night's Alright for Fighting" with an overall rating of excellent.

Trunk-or-Treat marks 19th year in Chipley

COLLIN BREAUX
Cbreaux@kentsmith.biz

A regular Halloween tradition in Chipley will occur at Jim Trawick Park, 1544 North Railroad Avenue, on Saturday, Oct. 28, from 4:30-6 p.m.

The event is Chipley's 19th annual trunk-or-treat. Kids can come out to receive candy.

"The trick or treaters will come in and walk to the different vendors," event coordinator Sherri Biddle said. "It's a safe way to trick or treat, in my opinion." Biddle has been helping with behind-the-scenes organizing for the event since the duration. Her involvement started when she worked with the Washington County Chamber of Commerce. Tommy McDonald, the mayor then, was thinking of ways to give back to the community.

"He saw the need to keep the kids safe," Biddle said.

The event has had several locations over the years due to either gradually outgrowing a previous venue or having safety issues with children walking into the street. The trunk-or-treat ended up at the current location of the soccer field in 2012.

Police will also be on hand to keep an eye out, along with EMTs and Smokey the Bear.

"Each year after Tommy died, I would go to the police department and get their support," Biddle said.

She also regularly secures permission from the City of Chipley. The event is intended to happen before it gets dark outside so kids stay safe, Biddle said.

The age range for trick or treaters is generally newborns to 12 years old.

"I couldn't do it without the community support," Biddle said. "It's always something I've tried to continue on through the years. The smiles on the kids' faces when they go through the lines are worth the effort."

"Trunk-or-Treat" will mark its 19th year in Chipley this Saturday, Oct. 28. Above is a creative design by from a previous year's event. [CONTRIBUTED]

More than 40 women gathered Saturday, Oct. 21, at Dogwood Lakes Golf Course to participate in the first annual Witches Ride.

The event, organized by course owner Heather Shelby to raise money for a local women's shelter, featured a guided bicycle ride around the lake, brunch, door prizes, vendors, and costume and bike decorating contests. Also on hand were guest speakers - including medical professionals, victim advocates, and domestic violence survivors - who share statistics and stories that highlighted the need for more resources in the local area.

Proceeds from the event benefited Hearts of Gold Ministries, a transitional shelter in Bonifay that provides housing for women and children. The ministry is supported by Amazing Grace Thrift Store and ran by owner Pam Boone.

"I wanted this event to be an excuse for women to dress up, have fun and raise money for a worthy cause," said Shelby. "The local funds raised at this event will stay local. I believe that is important for our community to see. This had weighed on my heart, and I felt the need to give back and help women who need help getting out of a domestic

Marianna doctor wants to give away hearing aids to someone in need

STAFF REPORT

Dr. Larry Otwell wants to do good for others as Christmas comes near, so he's looking to give away a set of hearing aids or two.

Otwell has a practice in Marianna and is prepared to give the hearing aids to people who can't afford them. Anyone in need of hearing aids without the means to afford so can write a paragraph or so explaining their circumstances and mail the letter to Otwell's office at 4297 3rd Avenue in Marianna, zip code 32466.

The ideal recipient would be someone who is "deserving," according to Otwell. Details on financial status are not necessary with applications.

"I'd like to get it to them before Christmas," he said.

The hearing aids are described by Otwell as "brand-new" and in good quality. A hearing assessment will be done on the chosen recipient before the hearing aids are given away.

"This is the time to give back," he said.

Otwell has a practice in Chipley as well and is open to giving away hearing aids to two people in the region.

"We want to take care of our local people first," he said.

FAITH

Try this diet

CALEB DUNCAN
Guest Columnist

I have a confession to make. I love some of the worst foods you can eat for your body. That's right.

Fried foods are my favorite. I have a few Little Debbie's that hook me in, too. Oatmeal cream pies and Swiss rolls are so good. We keep them out of our house but when I visit my family, there are always some snacks and junk foods in the pantry.

There are many diets that try to curb appetite and provide healthy options for foods. You could go vegan, or keto, or paleo, or a vast array of others...but I want to recommend a different diet.

This diet is a bit different from the ones I mentioned. This is a diet that Jesus had. Here's the kicker: it's not a physical diet. It's a spiritual one.

There is one time in the Bible where Jesus talked about "His food." In John 4:34, Jesus had just finished speaking with the Samaritan woman at the well.

This was a powerful moment, because Jesus had revealed himself as the Messiah to this woman, who was an outcast to society. She ran into the city to declare that Jesus was the living water that she's been searching for. And at that moment, the disciples walk back up to Jesus.

They urge him to eat, because they know he must be hungry. Jesus said, "I have food to eat that you know not of." This confused the disciples. They look around at one another and say, "Did someone give him something to eat?" (John 4:33).

And Jesus responds in a profound way to the disciples. He says, "My food is to do the will of him who sent me, and to finish his work." My food? Yes, he says, "My food."

Jesus' food was to obey the will of his father. This sounds strange. Why would Jesus use the illustration of food to show this?

What Jesus was communicating to his disciples was that it was his greatest desire to obey the father, even more than food. Jesus was teaching them about spiritual nourishment. For physical nourishment, our bodies need physical food but for spiritual nourishment, we need to obey God and walk according to his word.

We need to be spiritually nourished. In the previous verses, he just finished telling the woman at the well about the fountain of living water that springs up like a well within her.

This was not physical water. It was a symbol Jesus used to show that he gives the gift of eternal life. In another place, Jesus tells us that he is the bread of life.

The point is, that Jesus is our all-satisfying Savior, and when we are walking with him, we are spiritually nourished. When we have Jesus, we have everything we need to be filled. In John 4:34, we learned that Jesus was hungry to obey the father.

Did you know that Jesus invites us to hunger with him? He says in Matthew 5, "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, and they shall be filled."

I'll never understand eating at a fancy restaurant and getting served a plate of something extremely small and it costing so much.

If I want to spend my money on food, I want a good helping of food. Even with plenty of food, I still go hungry again. Jesus here is offering us a type of food that will fill us always. This filling food is to obey God with our lives.

If you are not feeling satisfied and hungry for the things of this world, I'll have to ask the question: what does your diet consist of?

Too many things of this world will ruin your appetite and leave you feeling empty but a balanced, spiritual diet consists of living water, bread of life, and fruit from the Spirit's fine.

Have you been broken by sin?

SHERYL BOLDT
Guest Columnist

Political primaries commence in January, and our state goes to the polls on "Super Tuesday," March 5. Negative ads will appear. None of us like them. Do you know someone who reminds you of a broken doll that needs to be returned to the toy factory? So brokenhearted from their mess-ups that their spirits are crushed? Someone so ashamed because of their wrong choices that they can't face anyone - even God?

Is this how you would describe yourself?

God understands our crushing discouragement and shame, which is why He says in Hebrews 4:16 (ESV), "Let us then with confidence draw near to the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy and find grace to help in time of need."

No matter what else we're dealing with, when shame and turmoil are added to the mix, our "time of need" escalates.

What would happen if we asked God to show us how He hates our sin, but still loves us? To help us despise our sin as much as He despises it - and accept His love and mercy as freely as He gives it?

For years, when I battled eating disorders and other self-harming behavior, I felt like a broken doll. So broken that the toy factory probably would have tossed me aside. I know firsthand how the enemy uses the shame of our mess-ups.

He convinces us we're not worth people's time, so we withdraw from the very people we need to be around - those at church, our family and God.

Every day we isolate, hopelessness sets

Joel Davis owns Davis-Watkins Funeral Homes & Crematory, which has locations throughout Northwest Florida. He wanted to open one in Holmes County but was waiting for the right place.

That right place opened up at 406 West Highway 90 in Bonifay—which is expected to be the next new funeral home for Davis-Watkins.

Davis said his family-owned company aims to have modern facilities and intentionally selected the building on Highway 90 since they want the location to be on a main road.

“We’re going to try to have something that’s good for the community,” Davis said. “We wanted something that was convenient for people.”

The location on Highway 90 is familiar to Davis, whose family lived out there.

He remembers visiting the area and even had his first job across the street.

Davis is also a pastor at several churches in Holmes County.

The coming Bonifay site will be Davis-Watkins’ seventh location. The remodeling for the Highway 90 funeral home should be done this month, Davis said.

“We’re telling people we should be open before the year is over,” he said. “It means so much to be home. I always had my heart set on Holmes County.”

The convenient location is so people don’t have to struggle to get to a funeral home, Davis said.

“Everything’s always been Holmes County,” he said.

A potential expansion of the property is possible in the future to make the site into “something really nice,” Davis said.

“This is really kind of stage one,” he said.

ChIPLEY Beef ‘O’ Brady’s expected to open in 2024

STAFF REPORT

Construction is underway for the coming new Beef ‘O’ Brady’s site in Chipley. The new franchise location at 1403 Main Street—next to One Florida Bank and across the street from the Eye Center of North Florida—is expected to open within the next six to nine months, according to Beef’s franchisee and owner-operator Scott O’Brien.

“We’re pretty excited about being there,” O’Brien said. “I know the community is too.”

The contractor is currently ensuring the site ground is okay, he said.

New oyster bar to open in Caryville on Nov. 3.

STAFF REPORT

The restaurant is called Pate Farms Raw Bar & Grill and will be family-owned and operated on Highway 90 at the former French’s Restaurant & Oyster Bar location—4280 Old Spanish Road, to be specific.

Cassie Pate and her brother will be working at the restaurant, which is owned by their parents. Other family members will do the cooking.

“We’re really excited to be able to have a restaurant in Caryville where we don’t have a lot of options,” Pate said. “It’s always been my dream, especially my dad’s.”

The first 10 people at the grand opening—which is on Friday (Nov. 3)—will receive free appetizers. The eatery will also do a $50 gift card giveaway on social media.

“We love oysters,” Pate said. “That’s one of my family’s favorite foods.”

in deeper.

Please don't let Satan get away with this.

In my desperation, I finally poured out my heart at the throne of grace and found wholeness in Christ's mercy. It wasn't long before I allowed supportive people back into my life.

Read Hebrews 4:16 again.

What if, rather than dwelling on the mess you've made, you drew near to the throne of grace and talked to your heavenly Father? Ask Him to help you make things right with those you've hurt with your sinful choices. Ask God to heal them — and you — from the consequences of your sin.

Whatever your situation, I hope you'll go boldly to God and tell Him everything. Ask Him to give you true sorrow for your mess-ups and sins. Freely accept Almighty God's love and mercy.

And, while you're at the throne of grace in this time of need, allow God's grace to heal you from your brokenness.

Regional group welcomes kids out for mud races

Kidz Unlimited Bounty Racing hosts mud races for kids, including an upcoming one at Mudd'n185 in Westville this Saturday. [CONTRIBUTED]

Alex Henderson and his friend Daniel Brown, who owns an automotive shop in Alabama, saw a need for kids to get outside and enjoy mud riding—which motivated the two to organize meet-ups for said kids in Holmes County.

Henderson, who lives in Alabama, and his friends are avid riders and want youngsters to be able to enjoy the hobby as well through a group called Kidz Unlimited Bounty Racing. Their most recent race happened at Mudd'n185 in Westville at 1450

County Road 185 on Saturday, Oct. 21.

"You watch these kids, especially ones that haven't done it," Henderson said. "There's a range of emotions. I think it teaches them how to overcome their emotions—letting someone guide them through something they're not used to."

For the kids that go on to bigger races, mud riding can teach kids discipline and hard work, he said.

A trunk-or-treat event was held on Friday, Oct. 20, the night before the ride at 6 p.m. A date for a future mudding meet-up will be reached after Saturday's event.

"We'll definitely be doing one in the spring," Henderson said.

The attendance at events can vary—30 are expected for Saturday's event, though as many as 60 kids have participated in previous mud runs.

Pre-registration must be done before an event. Kids get to do more than ride in the mud at the meet-ups—they also get memorabilia.

"We'll have a goody bag for them," Henderson said.

Visit the Kidz Unlimited Bounty Racing page on Facebook for more information.

Pet of the week: Oliver
[NAN THOMPSON | The News and Advertiser]

I'm Oliver. I am an adorable Chihuahua mix, if I must say so myself. I was born January 24th, so that makes me almost 10 months old.

I'm still a puppy, so I will need some work on the basics. You know... leash training, potty training, and other things puppies need to learn... but I do learn fast.

My bad traits are that I still like to chew, so I will need some help to understand what I can or can't chew on. Some good toys and someone to teach me will do the trick.

My foster mom says that I am super sweet and that I love to snuggle and play—and, of course, take naps...but I'm ready to start again after I have a good nap.

I don't like being alone for very long, so maybe I could be adopted to a family that already has a playmate for me.

I have been around kids aged seven and older but I don't know about younger kids yet.

I live with my foster parents sponsored by Sammy's Hope Rescue and would really like to meet you, and maybe go home.

I will require a fenced yard, or someone that likes to take long walks with me.

I hope I am cute enough for you to want me. I promise I'm not much trouble.

I can bring you lots of love and kisses.

If you are interested in me or any of my friends here at Sammy's Hope, contact 850-280-3960, sammyshope@aol.com or www.facebook.com/sammyshopefl.

Black Barn Blossoms holds 2nd Annual Sunflower Fest

Black Barn Blossoms held its 2nd annual Sunflower Festival.

"We have all these festivals throughout the year, but there's really not a lot to do in the fall here in the Panhandle," Black Barn Blossoms' Owner Gina Hamilton said. "The beachgoers are kind of, you know, stopping or whatever. And so I said, why can't we do in the fall to give families something to do? And I came up with the idea because we are a flower farm that we would just celebrate fall by having a sunflower festival. So that's what we did."

Attendees got the opportunity to explore the farm's various gardens.

"We have flowers in two different gardens and they're full of butterflies this time of year," Hamilton said. "So people have gotten lots of picture opportunities today."

Fourth grader Egypt Brown attended the festival to do just that. "The flowers," Brown said. "Because they're pretty and nice to take pictures of them."

Afterward, attendees were invited to gather in the upper field of the farm where there were over 30 local vendors ranging from various artisan crafts to food trucks.

"We encourage people to bring their chairs because then from that you'll walk into the concert area where you can see the crowd has like settled in and they're sitting enjoying the music in their chairs," Hamilton said.

Three local bands were also on hand and performed live music.

Before visitors left they got the opportunity to bring flowers home with them that were sold in the gift shop.

The Black Barn Blossoms hosts a number of events throughout the year. The next one is a night of worship, coming up on Nov 5.
